

Nine Quick Learning Strategies for Success

Thank you for providing feedback on this web site: 'www3.telus.net/~slwoitte' then 'Nine Quick'.

Providing feedback for a website is an important activity since usually the designer works with a purpose in mind and then presents his work to others for their use. Please consider the following questions and add any and all comments. Use the back if needed.

A. General Information

1. Is the website clear to follow? _____

2. What does the designer have to say about strategies? _____

3. How useful is the site to you? _____

4. How useful is this site to your students? _____

5. Is the information consistent with other published material on the topic? _____

B. Comment on the following criteria:

1. Purpose _____

2. Content (substance, depth, uniqueness, accuracy, currency) _____

3. Authority (institutional affiliation, developer credentials) _____

4. Organization/Format (easily grasped, logical, clearly divided) _____

5. Accessibility (consistent, speedy availability, text-based, alternative pages) _____

6. Navigation (logical, easy to move ahead & back) _____

C. Please make any other comments: _____

D. Errors - please list page and error: _____

Please return this completed form to Roger Moore in Learning Support Services – 5th floor NorQuest College
If you include your name, it will be entered in the draw for a great prize.